PROLOGUE

In the past, yearbooks contained pages of writing — such as wills, prophecies, and class histories. However, the trend has changed. Today yearbooks are filled with pictures depicting school life for a particular school year. The large amounts of copy have been replaced with many snappy sayings, interesting captions, or running headlines. This idea of eliminating tedious copy has been adopted so that the book will be one of memories of a school year, especially for the graduating class. We have used this format in our 1964 EVERGREEN, which has been written as a play entitled "Around G.H.S. in 180 Days."

Let us set the stage for you. The action takes place in and around Greenfield High School; the time is from September 1963 to June 1964. The story of the play is true; it is told as it actually happened. The actors are GHS students playing their natural roles. As the play opens the cast is seen entering school in September. As the days go by we see the characters in the play performing in various classrooms and also in extra-curricular activities. The months pass and finally the climax comes — COMMENCEMENT — for the seniors. The curtain falls as the 180 days, packed full of happy times (and sad ones, too) come to an end.

We want all of you readers of this yearbook to enjoy it. We especially hope that you graduates — many of whom may not see each other again — will find our 1964 EVERGREEN a reminder of the friends and good times shared at Greenfield High School.

DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF —

John Fitzgerald Kennedy
1917-1963

We, the Class of 1964, proudly dedicate the 1964 EVERGREEN to the memory of our late President, John Fitzgerald Kennedy. We would especially like to pay tribute to him for his interest in the Arts.

People everywhere felt a closeness to John F. Kennedy, but Greenfield High School students have a special reason for remembering this great man. While serving Massachusetts in 1958 as a United States Senator, John F. Kennedy came here and dedicated Greenfield High School.

The Class of 1964 was indeed fortunate to live in the era of John F. Kennedy. We trust we have grown in wisdom from his example and will continue to follow his ideals. We can only hope that we will have the fortitude and strength to live up to his challenge to Americans —

"Ask not what your country can do for you — ask what you can do for your country."

To the memory of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy we dedicate this book.

BASEBALL

After years of finishing second to Chicopee, Greenfield hopes that this will be their year. Ace pitcher Tom Suchanek, also a very good hitter, will be the key. Catcher Bob Smith, shortstop Bill Phelps, and powerful outfielder George Lynde also return from last year's team. Dave McDonald, Barry Dow, and Earle Richardson, will be counted on to help the team.

TRACK

This year's track team figures to fare well in the running events. George Chiamonte and Rod Hochrein will run the sprints, Bob Poirier the quartermile and Dave Ciszewski and John Kaczinski will handle distances races. Brian Eisner (pole vault), Gerald Knower (javelin), Mike Lynch (hurdles) aim to do well.

EXIT

The stage is empty. The audience has left and the doors to the auditorium are closed. There remains only the memories and the 1964 EVERGREEN as a record of our 180 days.

To compile a yearbook many hours of careful planning and research must be done by the staff before actual work begins on the book itself. The major tasks are numerous and the minute details are countless. Full cooperation is necessary as all staff members work steadily under tension to meet production deadlines.

Among the major tasks of producing a yearbook is making interesting layouts. Teresa King, assistant editor, carried out this job page by page. As a yearbook is chiefly a pictorial record, photography plays a major part. Duncan Crawford, student photographer, clicked his camera night and day to capture unusual photos. Most of our copy was typed by Fran Schmidt and Theresa O'Neill. Proof-reading, a careful and tedious job, required the faithful services of secretary, Carolyn Reum and assistant editor, Carol Turnbull. Financing our yearbook is done partly through the sale of yearbooks and Greg Buteau served here with his staff, while further financing was done through advertising. Greg Smead, under the efficient direction of Mr. Howard Boucher, boosted our advertising sum to great heights!

The whole task of producing a fine yearbook requires an interested, and patient advisor. We were privileged to have such an advisor, Miss Marion L. Congdon, who gave long hours after school.

These persons deserve a special thanks and to ALL the other members of the EVERGREEN STAFF who made this book possible, I am deeply grateful.
